This territory is covered by the "Treaties of Peace and Friendship" which did not deal with surrender of lands and resources but in fact recognized Mi'kmaq title and established the rules for what was to be an ongoing relationship between Indigenous people and settlers.*

RED DRESS DAY is Sunday May 5th; a day to remember and honour the thousands of Missing & Murdered Indigenous Women & Girls. The symbolism of the dress began in 2010 when Jaime Black, a Metis artist, created a REDress art installation project. It consisted of empty dresses hanging outside with the colour red representing both vitality and violence. The artist hoped her project would give these women a much needed voice while educating others of their fate. Her installation is now a permanent exhibit at the Canadian Museum of Human Rights in Winnipeg.

The Truth and Reconciliation Commission included this disproportionate violence towards Indigenous women in its Call to Action #41. Our parish is committed to these Calls to Action and hence we honour these missing women and girls on Sunday. For more information, simply google Red Dress Day or go to this link: <https://www.thecanadianencyclopedia.ca/en/article/red-dress-day>

Thank you to Laurie Eakin and the Mother's Union for the red dresses hanging outside and to the Sunday School for the Red Dress tags we urge you to wear today to honour the memory of these women and girls.
